

EDUCATION

---

UNIVERSITY OF CONNECTICUT 2010–2015

- PhD. Linguistics (2015)
- MA. Linguistics (2014)

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE LONDON 2007–2010

- BA (honours) Linguistics

RUNSHAW COLLEGE 2004–2006

- 3 A-levels (German, Italian and Sociology)
- 1 AS-level (20th Century History)
- 1 GCSE (Italian)

ST MICHAEL'S CHURCH OF ENGLAND HIGH SCHOOL 1999–2004

- 11 GCSEs (English, English Literature Mathematics, Statistics, Science (double), German, History, Business and Communication Studies, Geography, Religious Education)

EMPLOYMENT

---

GOETHE-UNIVERSITÄT FRANKFURT 2015–PRESENT

- Wissenschaftlicher Mitarbeiter/Postdoctoral Assistant
- Recipient of, and project leader for, the Deutsche Forschungsgemeinschaft (DFG, German Research Foundation) grant A General Theory of Multivaluation. Responsibility for €318.787 budget, leadership of project staff, construction and maintenance of both website and research database.
- Primary Researcher in the Graduate School 'Nominal Modification'. Responsibility for supervising the project graduate students through their PhD projects.
- 14 classes taught at both BA and MA level in both English and German. Class ranges between 5–100+ students.
- Theses supervised at MA and PhD. level.
- Developer and coordinator of the Institut für Linguistik website.
- 15 scientific publications, including peer-reviewed articles and monographs, handbook overview chapters and conference proceedings.
- 15 scientific presentations at conferences and workshops.

UNIVERSITY OF CONNECTICUT 2010–2015

- Graduate Assistant (research and teaching)
- PhD. in Linguistics. Thesis: Feature Mismatches: Consequences for Syntax, Morphology and Semantics.
- 5 classes taught overall at BA level, including 3 as sole-instructor.
- 7 Research Assistantships on a range of diverse projects, e.g. building and analysing a database of over 100 distinct pronominal systems.

- 4 scientific publications.
- 13 conference/workshop presentations.
- I worked as a Graduate Associate in the university's Writing Center helping students of all levels structure their writing, improving trains of logic and argumentation and writing fluency. I also served as the ESL liason, with a specific focus on developing materials to help non-native speakers of English.
- Various administrative roles, e.g. organisation of conferences and lecture series, member of the Graduate Student Senate of the University.

SPAR

2004-2006

- Sales Assistant
- Serving customers and assisting them with their purchases.
- Ensuring that the shop shelves are fully stocked.
- Stock inventory and assisting with ordering of new stock.

PROFESSIONAL AWARDS

---

- |   |              |
|---|--------------|
| • Academy Fellowship, Johanna Quandt Young Academy                          | 2018–present |
| • Research support, Goethe-Universität Frankfurt                            | 2017         |
| • Teaching Relief, School of Modern Languages, Goethe-Universität Frankfurt | 2017         |
| • Predoctoral Fellowship, University of Connecticut                         | 2010–2015    |
| • Doctoral Dissertation Fellowship, University of Connecticut               | 2015         |
| • CLAS Graduate Fellowship, University of Connecticut                       | 2014         |
| • Summer Institute Fellowship, Linguistic Society of America                | 2013         |

SKILLS

---

Characteristics:

- Excellent written and verbal communication skills.
- Strong ability to distill complex information for non-technical audiences.
- Analytical and detail oriented perspective.
- Flexible and quick to adapt to new challenges.

IT:

- Python (esp. Django), Javascript, HTML/CSS/Jekyll
- $\LaTeX$ , Markdown
- Microsoft Office/Wordpress

Languages:

- English (native)
- Dutch (Intermediate/Advanced)
- German (Intermediate)
- Italian (Beginner)